

HISTORY MINOR

The history minor requires students to gain both depth and breadth in history. Students must select a concentration, which enables them to acquire significant knowledge of one theme or area of the world; they must also take courses outside the concentration, which encourages geographic and chronological breadth.

Minor Requirements (7 units)

- 4 courses in one of the following areas of concentration (p. 1): Africa, Asia, Economics and Labor, Environment, Europe (including Britain), Latin America, Law and Crime, Middle East, Science and Technology, United States.
- 3 additional courses outside the area of concentration.
- Additional rules include:
  - At least 3 courses out of the 7 units applied to the minor must be at the 300-level. At least two of the 300-level courses must be inside the concentration.
  - No more than 1 may be an introductory colloquium (either HISTORY 101-7 or HISTORY 101-8).
  - Up to two may be specific courses taught by other departments and programs, including CLASSICS 211-0, CLASSICS 212-0, ECON 318-0, ECON 323-1, ECON 323-2, ECON 324-0, RELIGION 264-0, RELIGION 265-0, other classes taught by History Department faculty (core faculty, visiting faculty, or history lecturers), and (with permission of the director of undergraduate studies) some class offerings of ECON 315-0.
  - Up to three courses completed on a study abroad program may be counted towards the minor with approval of a faculty advisor.
  - Chicago Field Studies courses may not be applied towards the minor.
  - No credit based on test scores (such as AP or IB) may be counted towards the minor.
  - Courses completed with a grade of P may not be applied to the minor; see Weinberg College - Grade Requirements (<https://catalogs.northwestern.edu/undergraduate/arts-sciences/#schoolrequirementstext>).
